Architecture

Machine Learning Model

The machine learning model use case architecture is defining how the machine learning model is working from starting to end and what are the success and failure scenarios.

Input/Output flow of project

6. User I/O Workflow

These input output flow will define the projects end to end flow with all success and failure cases.